Žiadosť o demoláciu Truly social media at Australian universities

Od: Corey Bradshaw , Adelaide do: university councils; university vice-chancellors , Australia.

We call on universities and other higher education institutions in Australia to shut down their accounts on 'X' (formerly, 'Twitter') as soon as possible. Their presence on X/Twitter is incompatible with the universities' remit to provide factual information because disinformation and political smear campaigns are condoned on X/Twitter. At the same time, a presence should be established on Bluesky, Mastodon, and/or other Fediverse servers, whose decentralised and moderated design is much more compatible with the rules of democratic and sustainable cooperation. The importance of social media for scientific communication has grown since its inception. However, the negative side effects of the major...
